The aim of this project was to stabilise a gabion wall which was under threat of collapse due to a landslide. The gabion wall was supporting the existing highway so a road closure was in place. TTS worked collaboratively with the client and a geotechnical consultant to come up with a design which would work due to the restricted access on the site.

- Early contractor involvement with the client and proposal of an alternative design to suit the restricted site.
- Installation of soil/rock nails to support the existing gabion wall and carriageway.
- Installation of a new concrete retaining wall.
- Landscaping and fencing works
